An Independent Voice for a Leafy, Liveable and Inclusive South Perth

I'm a proud long term Como Ward resident who cares deeply about our community's future. That's why I'm standing for Council; to bring an independent, community-focused voice back to our local government, guided by honesty and integrity. I'm not a member of any political party; my only commitment is to you.

My professional life has been dedicated to local government and community, with 25+ years' experience as an urban planner. Over the years, I've assessed development proposals of all scales; from small extensions to multi-million dollar apartment and commercial projects. More recently I've worked as an inner city strategic planner, developing key planning strategy, scheme and policy content to shape how Perth city grows. This work has focused on sensitive built form, incentivising delivery of community priorities, protecting key neighbourhood character and heritage, sustainable building design and signage.

I know how to cut through complex planning issues and make sure strategies deliver what matters most: liveable, environmentally friendly and inclusive neighbourhoods, now and for the future.

You may know me from my volunteer work as a co-founder of both the WA and South Perth Tree Canopy Advocates. I do this work because I believe a thriving tree canopy is vital to the identity, liveability and well-being of our neighbourhoods.

I am committed to responsible financial management. As a resident and former small business owner, I know how important it is to spend ratepayer money wisely to ensure our community's long-term economic sustainability.

With my love of our community, my local government experience and my advocacy, I offer you a highly qualified, invested and independent voice on Council. As your local representative I promise to stand up for our community's best interests and work with you to ensure that growth and development are handled with care, respect and long term vision.
